There are certain responsibilities placed on the men if they are going to be productive leaders in society and if they are going to make good husbands and fathers.

"The Responsible Man"

The responsible men are those who are willing to go and do the things necessary to get the job done, whatever it may be. A responsible man does not turn away from a challenge unless it is just too great. And even at that he finds a way to overcome the obstacles that are in his way. His word is his bond.

"The Man of Courage"

Society needs men who have both physical and moral courage, men who are willing to face all odds to enhance society, family and self. He must be willing to make the supreme sacrifice, if necessary, to establish truth and justice.

"A Man of Compassion"

Women recognize the strength in men, but they are looking for men who can show compassion when the time demands it. A man should not be all muscle, strength and aggressive, but he should show care and love. Women need care and love as well as firmness.

"A Man of Wisdom"

No woman wants a dumb man. A man must be able to use common sense. He must be able to know when to act upon certain decisions. A woman loves a man of knowledge; but she loves him more when he knows how and when to use it. We are not to be show-offs either with knowledge. We must be humble. Also men must be able and willing to share their wisdom with others.

"A Competent Man"

The man must be competent. He must be able to do what he's set out to do. He must be qualified. The worst man in the world is he who puts his word out and then is not able to fulfill his word because of his lack of knowledge. A man should not take on more than he can handle just to appear "macho."

"A Man With A Goal"

A man must have a goal, an aim and a purpose. His goal aim and purpose must include himself, his family and his community. A man's goal should always be to improve and succeed in whatever endeavor he undertakes.

These are just a few of the things that men have to consider in order to be effective in their community and their family life.
